

I do not believe there should be exceptions to the no call list, especially concerning banks who have the funds to advertise on their own. I consider telemarketers to be annoying and an in alot of cases rude. Thank you